

Character analysis

Name: William Hill

Nickname: Hill Billy

Age: 22

Occupation: Rock Raider

Rank: Ensign (but likes to think he's more than that)

Eyes: two, black

Hair: Brown

Favourite sayings:

Er...now this is not a problem.

We can fix this.

Lets Rock!

Mannerisms:

Left handed

Allergic to dust, sneezes uncontrollably in dusty places

Snores, loudly

Naturally agile

Likes to show off

Habitual fear of spiders

Habits:

Loves to gamble, and is always quoting the odds on things happening

Loves coffee, especially with marshmallows

Born optimist

Sarcastic.

Always trying to kiss up to higher ranks to help promotion chances

Overview

Hill has always aspired to be more than he is but just lacks the get up and go. If there is an easy way around things, he will take it. He joined the Rock Raiders team as a young man, along with his cousin Herbert Stone. Hill signed up his cousin without Stones permission for a joke, and has felt guilty ever since. This doesn't stop Hill making Stones life difficult with his ever-present ability for landing them in trouble. Although he likes to think he is the leader, it's Stone that has the real brains, but lacks the forethought and patience to see things through, but Hill is always quick to jump on Stone's ideas and claim them as his own brilliant scheme. When in trouble he'll try and kiss as much butt as he can to get out of a situation.

